DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The building is 3 stories high with running bond building walls on the second and third stories. The first story facade is covered in panels made to look like stone. From the left to the first story facade is punctuated by a flat wood door in an aluminum frame, a flat plate glass window with one light, and two flat doors in an aluminum frame. These elements are not organized in what could be called bays.

The second and third story facades are three bays wide. In either story facade the bays are signified by recessed brick panels, and the center bay is unfenestrated. The second story is punctuated by two flat contiguous windows in either outer bay. The windows are double hung with six over six lights and have brick sills and brick lintels. The third story facade is punctuated by flat, tripartite windows to outer bays. The components of the tripartite windows are eight light casements. The tripartite windows are surmounted by tripartite half arch transoms and accompanied by half arch brick lintels and brick sills. A brick cornice with dentils surmounts the building facade.
